Brought forward,
That it was impossible to commence discharging owing to the disruption is evidenced by the fact that the crew were unable to go ashore for food and had to remain on board in a state of semi-starvation. We might also mention ~~that~~ at this point that the Chief Officer was fired on by the rebels and narrowly escaped being fatally wounded. Work was finally begun on Friday 5th May by which time the situation had practically become normal. We therefore claim Damages for the detention to the vessel between the dates specified above, and we estimate our loss at the rate of £20 per day. i.e. = 10 days @ £20 per day				200 0 0
