Gentlemen

In reply to yours received on yesterday I beg to remind you that I have already refused to make a declaration regarding things not within my knowledge.

The absurdity of asking me to do so is so manifest that I will not labour the point; but as I intend having the matter raised in "another place" I will briefly review the facts lest there should be any ^{misunderstanding} regarding them

1871

Before the rebellion I sent a Lock watch to the Pillar House 31^a Mary St for repairs; after the rebellion the proprietors of these premises informed me that my watch had been looted:

You asked me to make a declaration to this effect, which declaration would have been only a mockery as I had no knowledge of the matter; and I pointed out to you that the proper person to make the declaration was the person in whose charge the watch had been. To the matter,

Stand Yours Truly
The Secretary J. M. McCormick

Sir, I am in receipt of your letter of yesterday's date, and note that as I am not prepared to make a Statutory Declaration regarding matters about which I have not the remotest idea your Committee will take no action.

As the whole matter will probably come up for discussion

I am in receipt of your letter of the 11th instant stating that you are not prepared to make a Statutory Declaration that to the best of your belief your watch was lost during the recent disturbances in Dublin. In the absence of a claim on the prescribed form no action can be taken in the matter by the Committee.

Yours faithfully,

Sir I received your letter (1871) this morning.
I have no information before me further than the letter from the Pilla House which letter has been forwarded to you. The Pilla House was not destroyed. I interviewed the proprietors there early in June.
The watch in question may or may not have been looted but I most decidedly refuse to swear that it has.

The proprietors of the Pilla House was in possession of the watch and the means of proving that it was looted rests with him.
