July 10. '16.

Dublin

Dear Sir

I applied to Sir Robert Chalmers in connexion with damage done to my house during the Sinn Fein Rebellion. I was unaware of any till the recent rains. Then it was at once evident that something was wrong with my roof. On examination it was found that the slates were so badly damaged by bullets that it will take eight pounds to repair them. Accordingly I beg to apply for this sum.

Believe me

Yours very truly

slates on the roof of 11 Harcourt Terrace. The roof was repaired in April, 1915, so that it was in sound condition when the rebellion broke out. I cannot form an estimate as to cost price, value of property at time of damage, etc. Such an estimate would be pure guesswork. I am actually paying £ 8 for repairs. The slates were damaged by bullets, especially by those fired on May 6.										8	0	0
