Mr. Haly. Claim Miss Goulding
40, Ashfield Road, Ransdagh.

With reference to communication transmitted from Messrs. Hopkins & Hopkins, Jewellers, of No. 1, St. Saviour St. Dublin which they have received from Mr. R. J. Buddell, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, I have now ascertained definitely that the latter is directly interested in the above claim by reason of the fact that he is Claimant's fiancé, and originally presented the gold expanding wrist watch to her.

Mr. Buddell's communication, therefore, relates to Miss Goulding's claim which has already been discharged by the Committee. Obviously, he is under the impression that the claim is still in abeyance, and hence his inquiry.

Dear Sir,

Mr. Lysterly and 17/1/17

We are in receipt of your letter re Miss Gouldings claim. There is nothing in it to connect the two claims but we have looked up the Claim Book which we kept in connection with claims lodged with us and we find that we have made a note of Miss Goulding, 40 Ashfield Rd., Ranelagh, a gold expanding Wrist Watch bought last year, a few days before the Rebellion. The ~~price~~ ^{amount} being the same is the only thing we can indicate that the claims are the same.

We are writing, however, to Mr. R. J. Ruddell, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, asking him if the address was 40 Ashfield Rd., when the claim was sent in.

Yours obediently,

HOPKINS & HOPKINS.

Gentlemen;-

Miss Goulding.- Claim - Watch £4.0.0.

I understand the above mentioned lady left her watch with you last March as same was needing some repairs, and owing to the recent disturbance your stock was burned out.

As it is now some nine months since this event occurred I would feel obliged to know if you can make immediate settlement in this matter.

Seeing you have made several compensations for claims presented I think you can handle this in the same manner.

Thanking you for an early reply. I remain

Yours truly,
R. J. Ruddle
