to the Military who used the furniture for barricading purposes. On the Claimant returning the house was found to be wrecked and a box containing money and a ring was found missing, as I am informed. I inspected the wreckage of the chairs and found the estimate of value to be greatly inflated; I am satisfied that my valuation covers the loss. With regard to the claim for money and ring, I have, of course, only the Claimant's word which, however, is verified by another woman. The Applicant is respectable.

Payment recommended £7.19.6.
