original cost as, although some of these articles have been in use for some years, still it is well known that they have not, if properly looked after, to be removed by members of the Force during their service. The other items ~~do~~ not represent the original cost of the articles but what I consider to be a reasonable present value.

A sum of £ 4.1.6 would, in my opinion, represent a reasonable estimate of the loss sustained.

Amended

I.S. I attach memorandum from John Ireland Esq. showing present value of articles mentioned in these lists.
