J. J. Healy Esq.,
51, St. Stephens Green, Dublin.

Dear Sir,

On the 20th instant we communicated with Mr. R. J. Kidney, College Green, Dublin, in reference to a claim for goods looted during the rebellion in Dublin. The goods when looted were lying at the stores of the Dublin Steamship Company. Mr. Kidney has acknowledged our letter, and informed us it has been sent on to you, consequently, we shall esteem it a favour to hear how our claim is to be made. If we send detailed invoices to you, will that be sufficient? If, however, there are official forms to fill in you will no doubt be able to supply these, and to give us all the necessary information.

We shall be greatly obliged if you will kindly write us at your early convenience.

We are, Dear Sir,

Yours faithfully,

ANSWERED

R. J. Kidney Esq.,

12 - 14, College Green, Dublin.

Dear Sir,

We have two instances where our goods were looted during the rebellion in Dublin. These goods were looted when lying at the Dublin Stores of the Steamship Company, and we understand from the Steamship Company our claim is to be sent to the Dublin Authorities.

One case amounted to £5. 7. 9. and the other to £6. 15. 10. Your name has been given us as the person to whom claims are to be tendered. We shall be glad to hear if this is so, and we will at once give you full particulars of these claims.

We shall esteem the favour of an early reply.

We are, Dear Sir,

Yours faithfully,

NOTE.

When the word "CHOCOLATE" is used we imply an admixture of Cocoa (the fruit of the Theobroma Cacao) with other ingredients, the wholesomeness of which is guaranteed. When the word "CONFECTIONERY" is used we imply that Sugar has been prepared with or without admixture with other ingredients, such as Fruits, Flowers, Flavours, Colourings, etc., the wholesomeness of which is guaranteed. Where Geographical names are used by us in connection with any ARTICLES, such name does not necessarily imply that the package or its contents has its origin from the place specified. Where fancy names are used, such names are not necessarily descriptive of the material from which the package or its contents are manufactured. In any case where ARTISTS' NAMES are used, the picture referred to is, of course, not an original, but merely a copy.
