Sir,

I am in receipt of your letter of 14th instant. The particulars you give are in order so far as they go, but it is essential that I should have some idea of how long the respective articles had been in your possession at the time they were destroyed, and I shall therefore be glad if you will furnish this information under the heading of "Date of Purchase". You will kindly understand that I have to investigate each article claimed by you, and I must ask you to give further particulars regarding the ring, the pins and books, i.e., a description of and the original value of each, and when purchased or presented to you.

I note that you were in Hospital at the time the claim was made out, and that several articles were omitted to be included. I understand that the Committee are not allowing any further supplementary claims as the time has now expired, but in view of the fact that you were in Hospital suffering from an injury I will, if you so desire, submit your case specially to the Committee as far as regards the articles not included in the original claim. You must, however, send a list of such articles, stating the cost price and date of purchase in respect of each of them.

I am,

Yours faithfully,

Inspector.
