Sir -

I have, mislaid
yr. last letter &
do not reply till
by chance I found
this address -
When the girl was at school she was made a present
of the watch, but not by me, you asked how she came to know 30/- was the value or something to that effect. I was not here when she filled the claim
but heard her say

she was told by the lady that the watch was a good one &
should be value for 30/- You have no use visiting any more about it - as all I can say is that whatever it has cost let it be a big or very small amount the watch
was as useful to her as if it cost £3.00 more & I
paid for a new winder & strap - (over) £. rally.

P.S.

I believe the bought watch was this lady's but was put in in all hands of the repair shop for the value of perfect repair. Not for the value of Dublin suspects. I deliver in Dublin on all the Gold & Silver in any way -

Madam,

Claim - self - £1. 10. 0.

The writer has been appointed by the Treasury to assess losses arising out of the recent Rebellion, and your claim for silver watch which was destroyed at Messrs Moore's, Lr., Sackville Street has been handed to him for attention.

Would you kindly advise him the maker's name, and how long you had the watch in question.

Yours faithfully,

J. P. Moore
I have not supposed of kind how or where the watch was got - any more than present of girl got it - as a present & a very useful one was & I should me
her one

Madam,

Re.Claim - Miss May Nally.

I am in receipt of your letter of the 9th inst., and note your advices.

Perhaps you would kindly advise me where the watch in question was purchased, and the cost price of same. I take it that you presented the watch to your daughter, and I fail to see how you could arrive at the value of the article at the time of the Rebellion unless you had some information as to the price paid.

It is impossible to assess the loss with the information before me and if you have not the information I require I must ask you to obtain the necessary particulars for me i.e. the cost price of the watch, and where it was bought.

Yours faithfully,

A. S. J. Phillips
