Remarks

I inspected the damage done here. The life of a plaster mould is not a very long one and those claimed for are on an average one year in use. Having taken into consideration depreciation in value, and the producing cost of the statues (not the selling cost as shown in claim) I recommend a payment of £55 in discharge of this claim.

Gentlemen

In reference to my claim in making a valuation of damage done it amounted to £77 I reduced it altogether to £75 you returned ~~you~~ the form of claim to me to specify goods damaged separately, and costs in doing so I put the original amount down at £77, in the meantime in sending in the original form as getting it back from you I missed a role of Pictures Engravings, which were worth to me over £10.0.0 so I included this in the full amount which brings it up to £87, as I forgot to explain to your Inspector

when he called on me.
I now give you the exact statement

I remain yours
respectfully
