Dear Sir,

19 + 21 Cr. Bridge St.

I act as Town Agent for Mr. Michael J. Howley, Solicitor, Sligo. He, some time ago acted as Solicitor for Mr. Michael Clarke who purchased the premises known as Doherty's Hotel, Bridge Street in the City of Dublin from his brother Mr. P. J. Clarke. At the time of the purchase Mr. P.J. Clarke's deceased wife's sister was in possession, and Mr. Michael Clarke, who now resides in America endeavoured to get possession of the premises, but for the sake of saving family trouble he did not institute any proceedings in the High Court. The premises were destroyed by fire during the recent rebellion, and Messrs. Hugh Kavanagh and Hugh Grady, Trustees of the Marriage Settlement of P. J. Clarke and his wife are about to send in a claim as Trustees. Mr.

Howley's Client, Mr. Michael Clarke is really the owner of the premises, same having been duly assigned to him, but as he is in America, it is not possible to get his signature to the Compensation form, so as to have it lodged with you prior to the 12th inst. I am writing you therefore to inform you that Mr. Howley's Client, Mr. Michael Clarke is the owner of the premises, and that no money should be paid out to the Trustees of the Marriage Settlement without the concurrence of the said Michael Clarke. The premises were valued on the death of P. J. Clarke's wife for the sum of over £800.

The claim is being forwarded by Messrs. Crowley & Bolger, Solicitors, Sackville Street Dublin.

Yours faithfully
Secy. Property Losses (Ireland) Committee. Michael S. Bergin
